Northeast Syria

In the eastern countryside of Damascus, on December 16, 2021, British Forces announced that it shot down a drone after it penetrated the Al-Tanfa base on the Syrian-Jordanian border. The international coalition forces accused Iran and its loyal militias of carrying out the attack.

The Iraqi Kurdistan Regional Government closed al-Waleed-Sweidiyye border crossing, which is opposite the eastern Sweidiyye town in the Kojaraat area, which is part of al-Malikiyye city. Al-Waleed Border Crossing was opened several years ago to import food items, humanitarian aid, and construction materials (cement, iron, and others). The Iraqi Kurdistan Regional Government submitted a set of demands to the American mediator to reopen the "Feesh Khabur" crossing, known as the "Simalka" crossing, the most important of which is an official apology by the so-called Syrian Democratic Forces (SDF) and promises (with an American guarantee) that the PKK-affiliated Youth of the Revolution would not repeat its violations, where members of the Youth of the Revolution stormed the Simalka crossing several days prior and beat civilians who demonstrated against SDF's and PKK's practices, prompting the crossing administration on the part of the Kurdistan region of Iraq to close it. Also, as one of the basic conditions for reopening the crossing, the Kurdistan Region of Iraq demanded that the Syrian side of the crossing be handed over to a civilian administration. It is worth mentioning that a large part of food items became scarce in eastern Syrian markets after the crossing was closed, while the prices of other items doubled.

In the northern countryside of al-Hasaka, on December 15, 2021, an IDP woman was found shot dead by unknown persons in the fifth sector of Al-Hol camp. On December 19, 2021, the so-called Syrian Democratic Forces (SDF) conducted a raid campaign in the female migrant sector in Al-Hol camp and took out 30 teenagers of Arab and foreign nationalities because they exceeded the legal age for ISIL men, as SDF determined the age at which children are allowed to stay with their families to be younger than 14 years old. SDF arrested 8 migrant women after a quarrel with them for their refusal to take out their children.

In Ras al-Ain, livestock keepers suffer from a lack of pastures due to drought and high fodder prices. According to estimates, there are 160,000 head of sheep in Ras al-Ain, in addition to 2,000 head of cows. Livestock raising and agriculture are among the main sources of livelihood in the Ras Al-Ain region.
